

The Washington Post

Arts

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 2011

COURTESY OF MEGAN COYLE

Real Art D.C. gallery

Local artist Megan Coyle created “Bren,” a portrait of her older brother, out of strips of magazine paper in a collage technique she calls “painting with paper.”

■ See local artists' creations, and submit your own artwork, at washingtonpost.com/real-art2011. Your art could be featured in the pages of The Washington Post.